

the ind.
oil
Where the rack is never empty

HORSE FARM SAVED! (MAYBE, PROBABLY
- BUT WE'RE NOT KIDDING THIS TIME)

INDEPENDENT Weekly

No. 296 MAY 20, 2009

NEWS BUSINESS CULTURE

www.theind.com

POOYIE!

(it's good, it's bad and it's just crazy)

C'EST BON

Nothing says scenic Louisiana waterway like trash collecting along the bank. But a grass-roots coalition of residents in Teche country said "Enough!" and have begun in earnest a clean-up of Bayou Teche. A recently formed group, Clean Up La Jonction, has spearheaded two sallies onto the Teche to deal with trash, which in some cases chokes the waterway when it collects under bridges, making navigation by boat next to impossible. Last weekend, the group, joined by the Acadiana Resource Conservation and Development Council, both the St. Martin and St. Landry sheriff departments, as well as concerned residents, embarked on a second mission to save the Teche from trash. More clean-up weekends are in the works. Before long, Bayou Teche might just be restored to the scenic beauty it long enjoyed and definitely deserves.